

At Elsley, we value high-quality learning and achievement, together with a powerful moral development of sharing and respecting others.

Together we learn, share, achieve, and respect - ourselves, one another and our world.

Our Ethos and Elsley Values 'learning, sharing, achieving and respecting are an important part of what makes our school special.'

Pupils - Our Rights and Responsibilities	Parents and Carers – Our Rights and Responsibilities	School – Our Rights and Responsibilities
1) We have a right to learn We have a responsibility to: - listen carefully and always try our best - do our homework and bring it back to school on time - come to school on time 2) We have a right to be treated with respect We have a responsibility to: - respect others and not disturb their learning - be polite and show good manners - accept that others may be different to us - not deliberately upset others 3) We have a right to be safe We have a responsibility to: - follow school and class rules and think before we act - tell an adult if there is something worrying us - use equipment sensibly - not bring anything dangerous into school - follow the school rules on safe use of the Internet 4) We have a right to play and make friends We have a responsibility to: - be kind and helpful to others - take turns and share equipment - be honest and fair - play sensible games Child's name: _____ Year Group: _____ Signed by child: _____ Signed by Parent: _____ Signed on behalf of School: _____ Date: _____	1) We have the right to the best education for our child We have the responsibility to: - ensure our child attends school regularly - ensure our child arrives on time and ready for learning - inform school and provide reasons by 9:30 am for and absence - not take holidays during term time 2) We have the right to expect a safe and fun learning environment which will inspire our child to make good progress We have the responsibility to - talk to our child about their learning - listen to them read regularly - encourage them to do their homework - extend their learning through library visits 3) We have the right to expect the school to be caring, promote respect, equality, diversity and a high standard of behaviour We have the responsibility to - trust the school to have the best interest of all children - support the school behaviour and equal opportunities policies - speak to the class teacher respectfully about any concerns - promote calm and respectful behaviour 4) We have the right to regular information about the school curriculum and about our child's progress We have the responsibility to - read information sent by the school - attend Parents' meetings and other special events 5) We have the right to expect our child to be happy, feel secure and be able to develop confidence and independent thinking We have the responsibility to - encourage our child to listen carefully, think and speak clearly - listen to them and allow them to express their opinions - discuss positive ways of sorting out problems and difficulties - encourage them to make right choices - insist on kindness, politeness and good manners	1) We have the right to use our professional and creative skills and knowledge, within the school and national guidelines, to provide high quality teaching and learning We have the responsibility to: - provide a broad and balanced curriculum - have high expectations - challenge and support all pupils to achieve highly - be good role models to inspire learning 2) We have the right to expect good attendance and punctuality We have the responsibility to: - planned good lessons that are properly resourced - make the learning accessible to all pupils 3) We have the right to expect support from pupils and parents in creating a happy, respectful and positive atmosphere We have the responsibility to: - create a safe, stimulating and caring environment - address inappropriate behaviour in line with school policies - provide guidance towards responsible citizenship - encourage good hygiene and healthy eating - promote a caring and respectful attitude to all - provide opportunities to have consultation with pupils and parents 4) We have the right to expect all pupils to participate and try their best We have a responsibility to: - create a supportive and motivating learning environment - develop each pupil's confidence - develop each pupil's awareness of their strengths and needs 5) We have the right to expect parents to work with us in developing successful learners We have the responsibility to: - set regular and appropriate homework - keep parents informed about the curriculum and their child's progress - hold meetings and workshops to provide support for parents - provide information through letters, newsletters, texts and the website - provide school policies in a folder in the office and on our website

